☐ I can cover this without borrowing

The rent is only the first bill.

Most first-time renters budget for the rent and get caught by everything around it.

Hidden costs

Agent fees, agreement fees, deposits, furniture and utilities add up fast. The workbook makes you list every one before you commit.

Landlord traps

Vague agreements, unclear deposit terms and rushed signing. You get a checklist of what to ask and what to check first.

Lost deposits

No move-in record means no proof later. You document the place on day one so move-out goes your way.

Nine parts, in the order you'll need them.

Work through it start to finish, or jump to the part you're stuck on.

1 Readiness
Check if you're actually ready to move out, and what to sort first.

2 Money plan
Work out what you need saved and what you can afford each month.

3 Apartment search
Compare places side by side and know what to ask on a viewing.

4 Apply and sign
Understand the agreement before you put your name on it.

5 Move-in
Record the condition of everything on day one.

6 Home setup
Plan what to buy first and what can wait.

7 First 90 days

7 First 30 days

Settle in, set routines and catch problems early.

8 Monthly budgeting

Track rent, bills and savings so no month surprises you.

9 Move-out and deposit

Leave properly and protect your deposit.
